

Retractable door screens keep bugs at bay, combining comfort with style

Private residence, Aldergrove, BC: a modern country house

“There’s nothing like being able to fling the doors wide open to enjoy the breeze, especially towards the end of a hot summerday. Phantom’s retractable door screens help us do exactly that.”

– Joanne & Gary B, homeowners

- LOCATION: Aldergrove, British Columbia
- STYLE: Contemporary
- DESIGNER: Vesna J. Molby (exterior) & Joanne Bale (interior)
- PRODUCT: Phantom Legacy™ retractable door screens
- MESH TYPE: SunScreen mesh
- NEED: Proximity to nearby farms forced the homeowners to keep their patio doors closed in order to avoid letting in insects. They needed to source screens that would fit their large sliding doors and work with the design of the home.
- SOLUTION: Phantom’s screens were selected as the design-friendly option that would deliver relief from the bugs while letting in the breeze. The screens now connect the living room with an outdoor entertaining area, pulling out when needed and retracting in their color matched housings when not in use.

OVERVIEW

Located in the small town of Aldergrove, British Columbia, Canada, this custom designed home on an expansive 5 acre lot boasts modern design and clean lines. Phantom's door screens match with the design of the house and stay out of sight when not in use - a perfect solution for the homeowners who do not wish to display the screens all year round but need to block the insects from entering the house. Thanks to the relatively mild climate of BC's coastal region, they can now keep their doors open from early spring to late fall.

APPLICATION HIGHLIGHTS

Protection from the sun and the bugs

The retractable screens feature Phifer SunScreen mesh with 25% openness and 75% sun/UV protection, keeping the heat and the bugs out while still maintaining the views.

Easy operation with secure closure

Legacy's integrated latching handle is durable and easy to use. It closes the screen securely to prevent accidental opening in breezy conditions.

Complements any doorway

Phantom's door screens blend with all types of patio doors without detracting from the building's design.
